CITY LANDLORD REPLIES:

"To avoid a libel action the G.P.P. have agreed to apologise for the article headed "Glasgow Landlord Robs Tenants" which appeared in their October 1978 issue about myself Ronald T. Barnet trading as Barnet Flats and to allow me similar space to answer and to contradict some of the statements contained therein.

Firstly I take the strongest exception to the word "robs" used by the G.P.P. No tenant of mine is robbed. He or she enters freely into a contract with me. The scarcity of accommodation is caused in the main by the Rent Acts themselves. If the Acts were fair then the supply would rise to meet the demand. When a landlord gets a controlled flat or bedsit vacant he has to consider whether he can afford to operate

BOOK REVIEW

OUT OF THE GHETTO
My Youth in the East-End (of London); Communism & Fascism 1913-39 by JOE JACOBS

The Battle of Cable St. in the vicinity of Stepney where Joe Jacobs grew up has become part of the mythology of the traditional Left.

Street confrontation between socialists & Mosley's fascists escalated to the point at which barricades were built as part of the 'Shall not pass' policy. However, over the years this has tended to be associated with the Communist Party. Nothing could be further from the truth. Joe Jacobs, at that time (1936) Secretary of Stepney C. P., shows in vivid detail how the 'Party' shrank from militant street organising in favour of a 'long march' through the Unions.

The book, written in the first person and disregarding Academic styles of writing 'History' also touches on such landmarks as the General Strike of 1926, the depression of the 1930s, & at the beginning, Joe's childhood and formative years in London with a strong Jewish culture.

The book can be obtained from Joe's daughter, J. Simon, 9 Troutbeck Albany St., London NW1 for £3 + postage.

Clydeside Action

WINTER ISSUE NOW OUT: Includes article on Rented Accommodation; 15p from Grassroots, Clyde Books etc.

within the severe limitations imposed by the Acts. As far as I am concerned keeping Rent Controlled Flats is commercial suicide so I am left with two alternatives either to operate outside the Act by providing breakfast or to sell. Few of the persons for whom I presently provide accommodation would be interested in buying and so if I sold the chances of these tenants finding suitable accommodation would obviously be reduced.

It is the grossly unfair Rent Acts which are the cause of the problem. According to the latest Nationwide Building Society Survey rented accommodation has dwindled in just over ten years from 4,380,000 to 3,010,000. If the Government wish to provide subsidised housing by all means let them do so but it is a different story if they expect myself and other landlords to provide it. The decline in available rented accommodation will continue until there is a "Fair Rent" in the true sense. During a period when house prices have risen by around 120 per cent Registered Rents have been permitted to rise by only about 60% while in the same period repair costs have risen by 140 per cent. Those figures are from the Sunday Observer dated 6.2.77.

I quote from a September 1978 issue of the Telegraph. "The iniquitous legislation of the Rent Acts gives every conceivable right to tenants and practically nothing to us" angry Landlords throughout Britain told me yesterday." "The Small Landlords Association is so incensed by the plight of many members that it hopes to go to the European Commission of Human Rights within the next six months to make formal application alleging that successive Rent Acts have caused such violations of Human Rights as "slavery and forced labour". "Recent survey by the British Property Federation shows that Britain's properties in private letting yield an average net return of 1.8293 per cent." So if the average Landlord makes only less than 2 per cent return then it is obvious that around 40 per cent are making losses. With the Rent Acts as they are it is small wonder that Landlords like myself to survive have to get outside them.

I now proceed to correct various statements in the G.P.P. report:

Firstly they state Barnet Flats has 200 flats—the figure is under 90 in that company. Secondly the G.P.P. says that only six come for breakfast. The number is usually 20 to 25 per day. Thirdly: Two breakfasts the G.P.P. stated would cost £39.00 if delivered to the flat. The actual cost for a couple having breakfast would be £1.15 per day compared with British Rail's £5.00.

Fourthly: I am supposed to be raking off £40,000 per year but so far Barnet Flats has not made a profit. All the cash flow gets swallowed by repairs and improvements. Fifthly Any Registered bedsit comparable to one of mine would not be assessed under £40.00 and certainly not £30.00 as stated by the G.P.P. Sixthly: I challenge the writer of the article to come and meet my cleaners whom he said "brush around the dirt now and then." In conclusion, I deny that I am abusing the Rent Acts but have quite legitimately elected to stop being abused by them.

R.T. Barnet.

Rent Acts legislation was designed to protect tenants from being exploited by private landlords. Under the Rent Acts Registered rents are assessed by Rent Assessment Tribunals which have as their members solicitors and landlords, thus ensuring that the interests of both tenant and landlord are protected.

Acting within the RENT ACTS landlords receive a Fair Rent for letting their property, but landlords who choose to evade this legislation can charge any rent they like. Having read both sides of the story, tenants & landlord, G.P.P. readers are able to judge for themselves Barnet's practices.

APOLOGY

The G.P.P. apologises to R.T. Barnet for any imputation as to his character. He does not act outwith the law but his dealings are legal. The estimate of £40,000 profit was also incorrect.

Screwed Up!

A Guy came up to me at work the other day, stuck his face 6" from mine and said softly "Are you a Christian?" I recited slightly, said "No" and he whipped out a sample of the goodies - a tract which would "save my life", a prayer written by Buzz Aldrin who apparently "found God on the moon" and brought him back to Earth.

I hate Christianity.

I think its the worst thing that ever happened to Europe and probably every other place its evil claws have reached.

Its twin pillars are sexual guilt and emotional repression. It lauds conformity and hates spontaneity. It thrives on narrow-mindedness and fear. Its authoritarian, patriarchal and anti-life.

I've a friend whose sex education consisted of the priest visiting the school and telling them that if they got an erection in the presence of a female they should excuse themselves and go and put their cock under a cold tap.

Only the wildest orgy could make plain their spiritual sense of disgust...

The Churches make people Guilt-ridden about their most natural instincts. They teach people to despise or simply ignore their bodies and their sexuality like its something dark and sinful.

And the crap follows. "You won't respect me if I let you", "Wait till we're married"; and the ludicrous macho strut of the rock stars, and guys boasting they've "had it" ten times often-er than they have.

The cosy plans for so-called "Open Government" were effectively disrupted by members of Glasgow's seven claimants Unions at the 'Planning Exchange', Bath St. on Oct. 27th.

The reason was the "Review" of the Supplementary Benefits System. C.U. members participated solely with the intention of putting forward the CLAIMANTS

CHARTER, the only reasonable answer to the hardship and social division caused by the present

Means Tested system.

Instead of the paltry 'increases'

in Benefits, the

Supplementary Benefits

C.U. people put forward the GUARANTEED MINIMUM INCOME, Commission, who make a work or no work paid independent career out of other people's Means Tested system. Eventually to each individual enforced poverty, were over 14 years of age. pinned back against the wall by claimants themselves who FIGHT TO LIVE. (see pages 5/6).

And the ignorance: "It's O. K. so long as you do it standing up", and the unloved babies who'll repeat the cycle.

And the "liberated" mothers who don't hit their children when they play with themselves, just "distract" their attention. Its the same thing. Kids aren't stupid, they pick up the vibe - its bad, that's a no-go area, don't touch.

Sex, the silent subject. So they grow up in confusion, fear, misery and guilt, usually covered over with bravado and small talk, booze, fags and football.

And they go into their heads to compensate, become academic, intellectual, or in sheer frustration get violent to their women and children. Or they go dead, go quiet, get nervous, make no demands, conform, behave. Or they go mad & end in 'the bin', or they go celibate & become priests & be superior.

A study in Britain in 1970 estimated that between 5 & 10% of marriages are unconsummated. The sexual misery lying just beneath the social veneer is like a volcano big enough to blow away all the shit of this society and the Churches along with it.

Whose Anti-Nazi League?

The Anti Nazi League could be said to be one of the success stories of the decade. In less than 12 months it has flourished all over the country, it is quoted in the press and its opinions are sought by the media in a most flattering manner. In London the ANL organised a Carnival that drew 80,000 people on to the streets and in Manchester 30,000 people attended another enjoyable jamboree. Yet with all this success, its numerical strength and the arty names on the sponsoring list it is time we looked at the ANL quite closely.

Essentially the ANL is an authoritarian body. The Controlling Committee is self-appointed and co-operation is made without reference to the membership. When the ANL held a conference in July it was widely hoped that it would democratise the organisation. Instead it concentrated on the expected general election. Any hope of a constitution to enable the rank and file to have a say in the running of the ANL was lost.

Now the intention is to oppose the Front in its frantic scramble for electoral success. The only alternative the ANL puts forward is eternal social democracy.

Immigration and Racism

For the fascists the most useful plank in their platform is the racialist one. "An end to immigration and a start to repatriation." This is in many people's opinion the crowd puller. But we have to look hard before we find any realisation of this in the Founding Statement of the ANL. Indeed the only thing it says on the matter is, "The British Nazis seek to make scapegoats of black people."

There is no mention of the economic policies that caused people to vent their spleen on black people, or the racialist policies that set up black immigrants as "scapegoats". If we are to combat fascism on a positive level an understanding of these matters is essential. Why does not the ANL answer the questions?

-SOLIDARITY' CARTOON-

The ANL sees the NF "emerging as a growing force in British politics". They mention that "in London alone they (the NF) received over 100,000 votes. In some recent by-elections they have pushed the Liberal Party into fourth place." This is an obvious cause for concern, especially for those Labour Lefts and Trots who founded the ANL last year.

The NF have usually beaten the non-Labour Left at the polls and in one case (Mansfield) gave the Labour Left a fright.

It is surprising that no mention is made in the Founding Statement of the ever-present threat of corporatism in the policies of the Labour Party. The gradual conversion of the Trade Union movement into an arm of the state has been going on since the turn of the century at least, now there is no pretence of independence.

This plus the Labour Party's record in using troops to beat strikes, at least four times in the life of the present Government, give cause for great concern.

All in all they point to a fascist initiative at least as dangerous as the NF intervention in politics.

The Anti Nazi League's Role
The Anti Nazi League was founded in November 1977 at the instigation, or initiative of the Socialist Workers Party. This initiative came at time of traumatic defeats for the Labour and non-Labour Lefts at the polls. There was great dissatisfaction amongst the voters and amongst the youth of the country, with the existing institutions of both right and left.

With its simplistic formulas concentrating on a very narrow aspect of political fascism, it ignores the contribution of the existing social-democratic order to the growth of the fascist right. It makes scapegoats of the lunatic fringe of fascism for the misdeeds of the present politicians. The ANL has sought to confuse and deceive working class youth and the electorate as a whole, when it calls for "the widest possible support". What it is really calling for is a popular front with the middle class.

Combat and Answer
If we wish to combat the menace of fascism we must find out the cause of the fascist support. We must look clearly at the role of the main political and economic institutions, including Parliament and the Labour Party, and explain the purpose these bodies have played in the present situation. We must clearly show that only when people have the responsibility for their own lives and the decision that effect their own lives will they truly begin to fight capitalism, and we must not forget ourselves that fascism is only the militant arm of capital.

Thanks to Bread & Roses, anarchist newspaper.

Arrests at Carnival

A row broke out at a concert after the recent Anti-racist Carnival in Bradford, attended by one and a half thousand people. The police waded in and arrested eleven people.

Eye witnesses told LOP that the row broke out when a 'roadie' of one of the bands began telling sexist jokes about rape.

A group of women interrupted and spoke through the microphone to the audience, explaining that anti-racists should also be concerned with fighting sexism, and that jokes about rape were highly offensive.

The row had apparently ended before the police arrived. Then an organiser of the Anti-Nazi League (which organised the carnival) along with the Community Relations Council took to the stage with the patronising remark: "No ladies, if you've quite finished."

The row broke out again, and the police moved in to make their arrests, apparently quite arbitrarily.

Immediately after the arrests a picket was placed on Bradford police station, and the eleven were released later that evening. We understand they have all been charged with 'threatening behaviour'.

Social Insecurity

fight back with the Claimants Union

Living on social security or any other state benefit is bloody hard. You don't need a leaflet to tell you that - but you do need something to tell you what your rights are because the social security or the bru never tell you everything you're entitled to.

SUPPLEMENTARY BENEFITS

	Ordinary * Rate	Pensioners * & Long Term (over 2 years)
--	--------------------	---

SCALE RATES

Couple	£25.25	£31.55
Single Householder	£15.55	£19.90
For any other Person
Aged 18 or over	£12.45	£15.95
Aged 16 to 17	£9.55
For a Dependent Child
Under 5	£4.40
5-10	£5.30
11-12	£6.55
13-15	£7.95

* There are higher rates for blind people and increased by 25p if a pensioner is 80 or over.

** For someone living in someone else's household a standard rent addition of £1.45 per week is normally made.

Rates of benefits are far too low, but that's something we're stuck with for just now. But what we're not stuck with is the lies and humiliations which the social security dish out to everyone who claims benefit. And there's only one way to get the better of the social security system - that's for claimants to get together and help each other, because if you try it on your own you'll get nowhere.

WE OUGHT TO GET TOGETHER!

Some people on social security or unemployment benefit have already got together to support each other and have formed themselves into Claimants Unions which is one way of sharing experiences and finding out what we're entitled to. But most important is that people in the Claimants Union actually get what they're entitled to from the social security. For example a couple in Maryhill Claimants Union got a clothing grant for £140.40p because they knew exactly what they could claim for. Another fella in Partick C. U. got his giro stolen but got the total amount re-issued the same day - he wouldn't have got it unless he knew his rights and had another C. U. member with him for support. That's a basic rule of the Claimants Union - NEVER MEET THE SOCIAL SECURITY ALONE - otherwise they'll tell you a pack of lies about not being entitled to replacement giros or Exceptional Needs Payments or anything else.

Home Visits

Some of the most gruelling interviews by the social security occur in the claimants' own homes. ALWAYS HAVE A FRIEND OR CLAIMANTS UNION MEMBER WITH YOU. The more people who the S. S. officer meets the better for the claimant.

Also, always demand at least 1 day's notice of any visit.

Don't let them look through your personal belongings either.

The above total should represent the money you get from the S. S. each week. If you are getting less demand a written explanation (form A124) from the social security. It's surprising how often you get arrears by simply requesting one of these forms.

urgent need

According to Section 4 Part 1 of the 1976 Supplementary Benefit Act, "Nothing ... shall prevent the payment of supplementary benefit in an urgent case". This means that you can be paid 'over the counter' that day without an appointment if you are penniless or have had your money stolen.

WEEKLY ADDITIONS (EGAs) AND SPECIAL LUMP-SUM GRANTS

Lump sum grants, or 'big' one-off payments (ENPs), may be paid for 'other' - travel or, building, furniture, household equipment, removals expenses, depreciation, certain fares, starting work, fuel debts, rent arrears, HP debts, funeral expenses, home repairs, and other needs and emergencies. It is policy not to pay an ENP if a claimants case meets the expenses but of savings of over £300.

There is no legal limit on how much can be paid for EGAs and ENPs. Any claimant who is not satisfied with an EGA/ENP award, or who has been turned down, has a right of appeal (see below).

APPEAL TRIBUNALS

APPEAL AGAINST ANY DECISION YOU

DISAGREE WITH. But never go to the appeal alone or unprepared. They're never alone so always take friends or C. U. members along with you - you are allowed two with you at the tribunal. Travelling expenses and wages are refunded for you and your representatives.

Who Can Join The Claimants Union?

ANYONE CLAIMING STATE BENEFIT IS WELCOME TO JOIN THE CLAIMANTS UNION.

We stress the unity of all types of claimants - unemployed, single parents, pensioners, sick, stricken. We back up every member unconditionally with no regard to so called 'deservingness'. Ours is an offensive day to day battle for more money, and against intimidation, for young and old, male and female, black and white.

At first people come to claimants union meetings because they're not getting what they're entitled to and the S. S. treat them like dirt. And we give them all the help we can - practical help not just sympathy. But we also hope that the same people will get involved in the running of their local C. U. There are no paid members in the C. U.'s - we all claim benefit but we do gain a lot of support and self-confidence through fighting the S. S. together.

BIRTH without VIOLENCE

In the late 1950s about half the births took place at home. The figure is now down to 6% and the Government's stated aim is 100% hospital deliveries, regardless of the desire of an increasing number of women for home and Leboyer type births.

Assembly line babies induced for 9 to 5 convenience is what the experts want and of course we've all had it drummed into us that 'doctor knows best'.

For the last 12 years a French obstetrician Frederick Leboyer has been challenging orthodox medical procedure with a revolutionary method of bringing babies into the world. He looks at labour from the baby's point of view.

How does it feel to have bright lights shine in your face as you emerge from 9 months in virtual darkness?

What's it like being dangling upside down and slumped after months curled up?

What's it feel like being born from a mother who's drugged?

Then clamps are put on the chord and its cut while the baby is still using it as an oxygen supply. One man remembers his cord being cut as "a body blow, a searing pain which took away my breath before I got my breath and produced a triple red light of emotional, physical & mental danger. Quite suddenly the only status quo I knew was, within seconds - the time it took for scissors and clamp to sever that connection - abruptly ended. Being born was an experience I certainly wouldn't like to repeat".

Leboyer leaves the cord to pulsate until the baby is finished using it and has changed over to lung breathing AT HIS OWN PACE. This takes about 5 to 10 minutes after birth.

One midwife says she used to bend over the baby until the cord finished pulsating so that it would not be cut too soon and the baby could still feel a warm body near. Although the doctors sometimes objected she managed to do this with 20 out of every 23 babies. The 20 would stop crying and be at ease, the other 3 were, in her own words "inconsolable". Leboyer delivers babies in semi-darkness without the usual noise and chatter of the average delivery room. He places the child on the mother's stomach straight after birth and gets her to massage the child's back.

In most hospitals the baby gets whisked away from the mother, deposited on cold scales and then wrapped up. Leboyer emphasises touch, skin contact between mother and child right away. He doesn't slap babies to force them to breathe. Finally he places the baby in a tub of water at a similar temperature to that of the womb so that the child experiences something familiar very soon after entering the world.

He also avoids the use of less problems with feeding and sleeping, that they walked earlier, were more exploratory and had a substantially higher I.Q. than babies delivered than babies delivered normally.

To counteract the negative effects of our births a technique known as 'Rebirthing' has been developed. In this you relive in fantasy your birth by reconstructing as nearly as possible the physical sensations of being born, and releasing any locked in feelings related to the original birth. One man of 22 grew 2 inches after just one rebirthing session.

To most people the idea that we can remember our birth is ludicrous but that comes from our cultural attitude that babies don't have any feelings. If an adult cries we regard it as a sign that something is wrong and do what we can to comfort the person. But when a baby cries right after birth we regard it as a good healthy sign not as a signal of distress. We have become appallingly insensitive to the newborn and indeed to the whole on pushing the mask onto her. So she'd ward off the mask with her arm while trying to give birth until the doctor relented and told the nurse to stop.

The incidence of forceps births is rising dramatically, in some American hospitals as high as 65%, while in Holland, which has one of the lowest infant mortality rates in the world it's only 4%.

The same friend heard the doctor tell another nurse who'd got the forceps out, to put them away as the baby was doing fine and just to give her time. But its speed and efficiency that's wanted not sensitivity.

Pregnancy is now largely regarded by the medical profession as an affliction and women treated not as mothers-to-be but as patients. Home births are regarded as dangerous yet Holland with over half its babies born at home has an infant mortality rate of 0.4% while Britain's rate is 1.5%.

I see the increasing trend toward hospital births and the phasing out of midwives as another example of us losing control of our lives and of our bodies. There are some positive signs of a fight-back through the recently formed RADICAL MIDWIVES ASSOCIATION: 17 Fairfax Rd., DERBY which is fighting for the CHOICE of home or hospital delivery for all women and the birth centre 187 Old St., LONDON EC1, which campaigns for Leboyer births (Books: Birth Without Violence, F. Leboyer (Fontana) Naturebirth, Danae Brook (Penguin) ). I.H. 7

drops of silver nitrate, an intensely caustic substance which no adult would like to put in their eyes, but which hospitals routinely minister whether it's necessary or not.

A follow-up study of over 1000 'Leboyer babies' found that they had far process of birth. Technology has all but taken it over.

A friend in labour in a Glasgow hospital had to put up with a nurse trying to stuff an oxygen mask over her face. She didn't feel any need for the mask but this wasn't good enough for the nurse who insisted

birth rights

I'm a member of the GPP collective, I'm 5 months pregnant and I'd like to reply to the piece on Birth Rights, especially as I'd intended to use this GPP as a means of reaching women who might be interested in forming a Birth Rights group in Glasgow. The article struck me as ill-informed and lacking in any perception of the true processes of child-birth, and how they affect women. Changes in ante-natal care are essential, so that women can understand the changes taking place in their bodies and can prepare themselves emotionally for the experience. Only then can birth be a positive event for the child.

Leboyer's book is written in highly emotive language, making it inaccessible to most women. His methods are unorthodox but not revolutionary. The peace at the moment of birth is rational, but there is no evidence to support his assertion that not cutting the umbilical cord for several minutes gives the baby two life support systems. The uterus contracts as soon as the baby is born, constricting the placental blood vessels so that no oxygen is transferred through the placenta after birth.

Leboyer's claim that his method produces more contented babies is difficult to disprove, but there is evidence that it has reduced the infant mortality rate in French hospitals. He started working out his theories in 1966 and now there are many progressive maternity units in hospitals who are prepared to adopt part of the Leboyer method at the mother's request. It is now 'policy' that medical interference with the baby is kept to a minimum, and physical bonding takes place as soon as possible. Of course we cannot be too optimistic about the sensitivity of the medical profession and there are points that need taken care of.

traumatic and the baby will benefit directly. What we must remove is the continual need to fight for these things.... women are not machines who are brought to birth by doctors, they are people who should be allowed to participate fully and with joy.

NEW CHANNELS

Recent District Council Minutes on the "Strathclyde Structure" Plan, reveal the "stepping up of police patrols in the peripheral estates" to safeguard modernised houses as the blurb puts it.

Also advocating "the council to press ahead vigorously with the introduction of tenant management co-operatives & co-ownership schemes. When these co-ops, etc., are established they should have the power to decide what balance to strike between rent levels & the corresponding amenities".

If women are in control of the situation the birth will be less

BODY TYPES

A century ago psychologists such as Lombroso were stating that physiological features such as shape & size of a person's skull determined propensity to commit "deviant" or "criminal" acts.

In 1978 an academic whizz kid, J. Hinton, a Senior Lecturer in Psychology, at Glasgow University has re-vamped the idea.

This time, the emphasis is on factors related to blood types. And of course there's no shortage of 'Research' funds for projects of this nature. After all, Authorities don't like to be reminded that crime/deviance are products of a particular society based on hierarchy & exploitation

Electric Charge!

I was reading the article about Barnet Flats in your paper this week and thought I would tell you of my grievance.

I received an electric bill from him for X amount, but when I emptied the meter to pay this bill it had far less money in it.

On finding this out I contacted a woman (Mr.
Barnet was out) and asked why the bill was so high. She told me that they charged for installing the meter and for reading

it. I pointed out that the Electricity Board didn't charge for reading meters and she changed her story and said that they overcharged to make up for losses on meters that get broken into. I told her I thought that was ridiculous, by which time
she was getting fed up with me and rather confused with all that she had been telling me.

Anyway did you know that Barnet overcharges his tenants for electricity charging 4.2 p per unit.
Landlords are meant to charge 2.6p per unit only.
